

The Bridge for Genoa: mega-cranes shipped to Terminal San Giorgio

24 October 2019

Genoa, 16 October 2019 – Today three mega-cranes from the Netherlands, the largest in Europe, were offloaded at Terminal San Giorgio to be used in the construction of the Bridge for Genoa.

The cranes, hired by Fagioli Spa, are up to 130 metres high and have a lifting capacity of 1200 tons. The oversized cargo is due to be delivered immediately to the construction site where the cranes will be installed.

The unloading operations of such a difficult project cargo was made possible through the collaboration between Terminal San Giorgio Srl and Fagioli Spa, leading company specialised in the handling and transport of heavyweight cargo.
